

Capacity Bundle

Design, build and deliver your own training courses

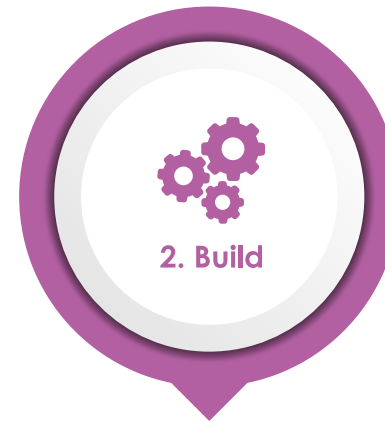

Our capacity bundle supports organisations to develop and deliver their own online learning.

We will work with you to provide a tailored combination of training, resources and a learning management system should you require, to get your internal eLearning development process up and running.

Design

Design your own training courses that are educationally effective, engaging and visually appealing.

Build

Build your training courses using our re-usable course templates, branded specifically for your organisation.

Deliver

Deliver your courses online and track and report on training activities of learners.

Capacity Bundle

Our proven eLearning capacity bundle includes:

- Reusable eLearning course templates - enhancing the visual appeal of your courses and speeding up production.
- Content style guides - documenting your in-house approach and guidelines.
- Instructional design training - how to re-wire the training mind-set for what works online.
- Authoring tool training - showing you how to use the latest development tools and techniques.

Want a learning management system that fits your business? – We set up a cost effective LMS to access, administer and report on all training activities.

Whether you are an in-house trainer or a team looking to up-skill and learn, our tailored-specific capacity bundle will transform your learning content and take your training courses to the next level.
